CHAPTER 6 CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The objective of this project is to construct building and facilities that will provide opportunities for lifelong and social education for the people of Thailand and will function as a place of education for promoting a correct understanding of the history of the Ayutthaya Period.

Discussions and negotiations have been conducted repeatedly between the Basic Design Study Team and the Ayutthaya Sub-Committee of the Government of Thailand, its Task Force and the Thai Academic Committee since the outset of the Project regarding the functions of the Historical Study Centre and its activities. Both sides also studied the details of the exhibition which were decided upon. The basic policy and the nature of the Historical Study Centre have been elaborated through these discussions. As a result, the new Historical Study Centre is expected to be a museum with unique features compared with other museums in Thailand.

The basic design outlined in this report is the result of study of the exhibition plan, the building and facilities plan, and the equipment plan through the building and facilities plan, and the equipment plan through the above discussions. The study examined the place of the Project in the national, social and economic development plan of Thailand. At the same time, they also examined the operating system and budgeting measures and the contribution of the Project to the upgrading of social education in Thailand. As a result, the study concluded that this Project is very significant to the Thai people and quite proper as a Japanese Grant Aid Project. It is earnestly recommended that both governments take measures to cooperate for an early implementation of this Project.

It is recommended that the Government of Thailand give consideration to and make continued efforts on the following points for a successful implementation of the project.

1) Collection of materials for exhibition

The main role of the Historical Study Centre is to collect historical data related to Ayutthaya through meticulous research and to conduct a public exhibition. Cooperation on a full scale by the Academic

Committee of Thailand is indispensable for the collection and supervision of the materials for exhibition. A closer collaboration with the Japanese consultants should also be established in the detailed design stage.

2) Adopting Thai design concepts

The materials exhibited at the Historical Study Centre will focus on the history and people of Ayutthaya, and traditional Thai design concepts will be partially adopted for the design of the building. Therefore, in order to draw up an appropriate design for the buildings, it is necessary for the Japanese consultants to take into consideration Thai architects advice and to maintain close cooperation during the implementation of the Project.

3) Site utilization plan

The work to be covered by the Thai side, consisting of riverside retaining, preparation of piers and the construction of a canteen, as well as exterior works including a gate, fences and landscaping, shall maintain harmony with both the contents and appearance of the Historical Study Centre. Future efforts should also be made for preservation of the part of the area designated as a historical site.

4) Recruitment of staff and training of curators

Whether or not the Historical Study Centre will achieve its objectives will depend largely on the efforts and capabilities of the people who will operate the Centre. Therefore, a careful selection should be made in recruiting staffers, setting the criteria not only regarding how competent they are to be but also on how enthusiastic they are about social education. Training of curators, who are indispensable to the activities of the Centre, is also an important issue for future consideration.

5) Appointment of experts for reference centre

Since the Historical Study Centre should also function as a reference centre, the Thai side should promptly appoint experts to carry out research work in order to commence full scale operations as a reference centre.

6) Operation and management of the Historical Study Centre

To facilitate the smooth management and operation of the Historical Study Centre after its opening, preparations shall be started from the stage of designing the facilities and exhibition and undertaking the construction work. It is therefore essential to organize the executive board and advisory committee to assist the Ayutthaya Provincial Governor as soon as possible and to appoint the Director of the Centre so that the activities of the Centre will be carried out smoothly. Public relations activities should also be extended to schoolchildren and the general public in Ayutthaya Province and the vicinity of Bangkok so as to attract a large number of visitors to the Study Centre. In addition, appropriate budgeting efforts shall be made to ensure the continued activities of the Centre.

7) Technical cooperation

Continued efforts in collecting materials and carrying out meticulous research are needed to achieve an exhibition conforming to the objectives of the establishment of the Historical Study Centre.

These efforts have been made by the Academic Committee of Thailand during the period of the basic design study, and the Thai side intends to include the members of this Academic Committee in the Executive Board for the Historical Study Centre after the completion of the basic design. As a result, the Academic Committee of Thailand will continue its work of collecting materials, conducting studies and planning exhibits.

In this content the Thai side is strongly requesting the technical cooperation of the Government of Japan (dispatch of experts and receiving trainees) in order to achieve the following three objectives of the Historical Study Centre; (1) providing a place for social education, (2) functioning as a reference centre for Ayutthaya history, and (3) promotion of research activities related to Ayutthaya history.

In response to this request by the Government of Thailand, the Government of Japan should study the possibility of extending technical cooperation in the area of material collection and exhibition techniques.

ON
PRELIMINARY STUDY FOR AYUDHAYA HISTORICAL STUDY CENTER PROJECT IN THE KINGDOM OF THAILAND

Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), an official agency responsible for implementation of technical & economic cooperation program of the Government of Japan, has conducted the preliminary study on the Ayudhaya Historical Study Center Project (the Project) in close cooperation with the Thai authorities concerned, from August 17 to 27 1986.

The team headed by Mr. Masaharu Yoshida, Assistant Director, Grant Aid Division, Economic Cooperation Bureau, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, held a series of discussions and exchanged view with Thai authorities concerned on the Project.

The Japanese team explained that the significance of the purpose of the Project requested by the Government of Thailand as the high priority project under the Three-year Indicative Plan, is fully recognized. It also stated that the Project should primarily be considered from the stand point of Thai side's initiatives on both administrative and academic matters, especially because the Project deals with history, a very sensitive area.

The Thai side stated that it shares the same view with that of the Japanese side, and that a preparatory committee as an administrative and academic contact point should be established, under the chairmanship of the Governor of Ayudhaya Province. a tentative member list is as shown in Annex I.

Furthermore both parties confirmed the following points:

1. The purpose of the Project is to provide opportunities to study the history of Ayudhaya for Thai people and foreigners through exhibitions.

2. The site of the Project, proposed by the Thai side, at present, is in the south of the city of Ayudhaya and its total area is about 7 rai. The Thai side will make a proposal of the definite site as soon as possible. Legal problems pointed out by the Ayudhaya government concerning the ownership of land should be settled by the Thai side.

Land preparations including infrastructures should be done by the Thai side.

Archaeological problems, pointed out by the Fine Arts Department, should be settled among the Thai Government.

3. Budget appropriation and securing necessary staff should be made by the Thai side for maintenance.

4. Basic idea of exhibition should be presented by the Thai side.

THE PROJECT FOR CONSTRUCTING THE AYUTTHAYA HISTORICAL STUDY CENTRE
THE KINGDOM OF THAILAND

In response to the request of the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand, the Government of Japan decided to conduct a Second Preliminary Study on the Project for Constructing the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre and entrusted the study to the Japan International Cooperation Agency (hereinafter referred to as "JICA"). JICA sent to the Kingdom of Thailand the study team headed by Mr. Hiroshi MANABE, official, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan, from January 21 to January 30, 1987.

The study team had a series of discussions on the Project with the officials and scholars concerned of the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand headed by Prof. Dr. Phaisith Phipatanakul, Permanent Legal Advisor, Ministry of Interior and conducted the site survey.

As the result of the study both parties agreed to recommend to their respective governments that the major points of understanding reached between them, attached herewith, should be examined towards the realization of the Project.

ATTACHMENT

1. The Thai side informed the Japanese Team that the Task Force of the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre Sub-Committee has already been officially established and the Cabinet of the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand gives this Task Force the full endowment to work out the project by consulting with the Japanese side. The list of the members of the Task Force is shown in Appendix I. and the list of the members of the Sub-Committee for the Construction of the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre which is composed of twenty five members totally, is also shown in Appendix II. The Japanese Team informed the Task Force that the Government of Japan established the Supporting Committee composed of three scholars shown in appendix III.

2. The Task Force reported to Committee for the Celebration of Thai-Japanese Centennial Anniversary on January 27, 1987, the major points of understanding reached by both parties during the discussions of the second preliminary study, and Committee fully approved the report on that day.

3. The purpose of the Project is to provide the opportunities for Thai people primarily and foreign visitors to learn the history of Ayutthaya in general through the exhibitions and its activities so that they could promote their understanding on the history of the Kingdom of Thailand.

4. The implementation of the Project is under the Ayutthaya Provincial Authority, assisted by an Executive Board which might at least be composed of the officials of the Ministry of Interior and the Department of Fine Arts, Scholars, and members of the Thai-Japanese Association. The Executive Board will be formed in due course, which nominate the Director of the Centre who should be the personnel with academic background on history. The Director shall be assisted by Advisory Committee whose members shall be appointed later by the Executive Board.

5. The site of the Project is located in the area, so-called the Old Japanese Village in the south of central Ayutthaya. The total area of the village is around 7.5 rais. Taking account of the letter of

Thairath

Mr. Thaveesak Senanarong, the Director-General of the Department of Fine Arts, on October 15, 1986, addressed to Mr. Sommai Hoontrakool, the President of Thai-Japanese Association, both parties agreed to use land of the northern half of the proposed area that the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand has already approved in the letter mentioned-above from archaeological point of view. The construction plot of the Centre is shown in Appendix IV.

6. With regard to the use of the site, the Government of the Kingdom of Thailand through the Committee for the Celebration of Thai-Japanese Centennial Anniversary confirmed to the Team that the implementation agency, the Ayutthaya provincial authority is legally allowed to use the land as long as the Centre exists in the site. The permission was already conveyed to Mr. Chaiwat Hutacharoen, the Governor of Ayutthaya from Mr. Sommai Hoontrakool, the President of Thai-Japanese Association, on October 15, 1986 in the letter form.

7. Since this project is implemented under its responsibility, the Ayutthaya Provincial Authority is willing to appropriate the annual budget and to recruit the personnels who are indispensable for maintenance and operation of the Centre. The allocation of the budget and the assignment of the necessary numbers of the staff should be adequately determined by the provincial authority advised by the Executive Board.

8. The function of Centre, which both parties regard as the most important part of the Project, is firstly to display various exhibits relating to the history of Ayutthaya (the detailed objectives for the exhibitions will be referred to later), and secondly to act as reference centre for the information on the history of Ayutthaya as much as possible. In the future, the Centre will be expected to promote some research activities in cooperation with various research organizations such as universities and museums which are carrying out the academic research on the Ayutthaya history. The cooperation system between the Centre and these supporting organizations should be worked out in detail in the future by the Executive Board. The Team introduced to the Task Force the scheme of the cultural grant aid under which the research equipment could be probably provided, if both sides regard it necessary after such a cooperative system will be established.

9. With regard to the exhibitions of the Centre, the Task Force is requested by the Team that they have to supply the appropriate information and materials relating to the Ayutthaya history as much as possible to the Japanese side in order that the latter can work easily toward the realization of the Project. On the other hand, the Japanese side will inform the Thai side of the list of materials relevant to history of Ayutthaya which are held in Japan. The Task Force will give the Japanese side the list of the materials and objectives that can be displayed or used in the Centre by the middle of April.

10. The display in the Centre will be divided into the three main parts as follows: (1) Ayutthaya as the port city, (2) centralised government of the Ayutthya kingdom, and (3) the life of the people in Ayutthaya. The detailed exhibits will be shown in Appendix V.

11. The Thai side confirmed to the Team that they are fully aware that they are responsible for the plan for the improvement of the Old Japanese Village surrounding the Ayutthaya Historical Centre borne by the Government of Japan in the grant aid form. The Japanese Team expressed the views that the plan for improvement of the Old Japanese Village by the Task Force should have harmonious content with the Centre. The Task Force requested to the Japanese Team that the basic design team might work out not only the plan for the Centre itself but also for the plan for the improvement of the Old Japanese Village which is borne by the Task Force so as to have the better unified picture in the form of a master plan of the whole project.

12. With regard to the plan for the improvement of the Old Japanese Village, the Task Force expressed the views that site work (clearing and reclamation, river-side retaining) necessary for the commencement of the construction by grant aid, and the construction of the small restaurant with souvenir shop, the other necessary constructions such as fence and gate, garden landscaping, pier should be included in the plan and these things should be taken into full consideration at the time of basic design study. The Japanese side confirmed to the Task Force that the former understood the latter's request positively but also said that the cost for detailed design and the construction of the things concerned should be borne by the Task Force.

13. The Task Force disclosed their plan of fund-raising to cover their obligations and promised to the Japanese Team that they start collecting the fund soon and further steps for fund-raising will be taken in Tokyo as soon as possible. The Task Force showed to the Japanese Team that the amount of fund donated from private sectors expected to be one hundred fifteen million Yen. The Japanese side took note of it. The Task Force further informed the Team that the Government of Thailand is exploring the possibility in providing fund to support the project in order to promote the tourism in this area. The final result of the discussions of the Government of Thailand in this matter will be conveyed to the Japanese side in the near future.

14. With regard to the infrastructure, both sides agreed as follows: the Thai side should (1) provide electricity to the Centre, and (2) repair and expand access road to the site.

15. The Task Force expressed their desire during the discussions that they need to send Thai specialists visiting Japanese institutions in order to acquire sound knowledge and sufficient information before commencing their duties for exhibition works. They also make a request to get some Japanese experts assigned to the Project to work out the details of the exhibition during the period of display works.

It is stressed by the Task Force that research activities of the Centre is crucially needed to fulfil its primary function for social education in the country. In this connection the Task Force would be ready to organize wide range activities in cooperation with both domestic and foreign institution, provided with possible aid from the Japanese government assigned to the Centre to promote further research activities after the completion of the Project.

The Academic Basic Plan for the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre

In response to the Thai Government's request for Japanese Government cooperation for establishing the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre at the Japanese village of Ayutthaya province in 1986, the Japanese government has sent a second mission composed of officers from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, JICA, technical experts and academic specialists to hold discussions with various Thai representatives from the Ministry of Interior, the Ministry of Finance, the Department of Fine Arts as well as the Thai-Japanese Association personnels and scholars between January 2 - 19, 1987.

On January 23 and 27, 1987, Thai and Japanese academic specialists exchanged points of view during the discussions dealing with the function and role of the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre, and with the preparation for its exhibition. The basic idea of this project can be summarized as follows:

1. Function and Role of the Centre The Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre will be a centre with the purpose of providing social services for extramural education. The centre will organize an exhibition on the history of Ayutthaya on the basis of historical facts. The centre is, therefore, required to organize data collecting and research activities in preparation for the exhibition and its possible changes in the future.

Thus, the Centre will fulfill its basic role for social education, through its function as a historical information centre and its capacity to provide support for research activities on the history of Ayutthaya.

2. Thematic Exhibition From the academic point of view, the thematic exhibition should clearly show a comprehensive picture of the Ayutthaya period and some of its continual features up to the present time as in the following topics:

- 1) Ayutthaya as a Port City It is due to the fact that foreigners who came to contact Thailand during the Ayutthaya period perceived Ayutthaya as such.

W. Gm.

Phaiak

a) Details of Exhibition

The presentation of relations between Ayutthaya and foreign countries in Asia including China, Japan, and the Moors, the neighboring countries such as Burma, Laos, Khmer, Vietnam and Malaysia, as well as the European countries who travelled to Ayutthaya, namely Portugal, Holland, Great Britain and France.

b) Materials for Exhibition

There will be a city plan of Ayutthaya, old maps, trade items such as silver coins, models of different kinds of ships, pottery and jugs. These items can be studied at the National Museum, in private museums and collections, and in various libraries such as the National Library, the Siam Society Library etc.

- 2) Ayutthaya as a Centralised State Ayutthaya was not only a port city and an old capital of Siam but also a state with special features. Ayutthaya held a centralised power and administration systems dominating the entire country.

a) Details of Exhibition

This theme can be divided into some topics as follows:

Pre-Ayutthaya States

These includes Lopburi, Nakhon Prathom, Sukhothai, Chiang Mai and other muangs.

Kingship, Nobility, Religions

All the above establishments played important parts in the development of Ayutthaya culture as a great tradition.

Bureaucratic System

This consists of the central and provincial administration and the status system.

Warfare in the Ayutthaya Period

The organization of an exhibition of important wars of the period is planned.

b) Materials for Exhibition

The exhibition will consist of maps, aerial photographs, objects and pictures of royalty, nobles and religious articles, such as models of the Royal Palace, throne hall, utensils, Buddha images and paintings. There will be charts of the bureaucratic system, historical documents such as the Ayutthaya code of law and various kinds of weapons.

- 3) Life of Ayutthaya: Society and Culture This part is to show the various ways of life in the Ayutthaya period. It also includes artifacts and pictures showing the life of the people in the Ayutthaya area in various periods up to the present.

a) Details of Exhibition

This can be sub-titled as follows:

City and Village Life

To show settlements of local people, foreign settlements, industrial sections, market, farming village along riverlines and canals, etc.

Ritual and Festival

An exhibition of rituals and festivals seen as a little tradition, which were held during the Ayutthaya period, such as spirit cults and boat races, Buddhist festivals, e.g. "Thet Mahachat", "Songkarn". There will be musical instruments and popular games.

Literacy and Literature

An exhibition on Ayutthaya literature, historical documents, "Khoi" manuscripts, " Bai Lan" manuscripts

b) Materials for Exhibition

Set up models showing both city and village life and models of different types of houses; farming tools, cooking utensils, cookpots, jugs, baskets, fishing equipments; ox-carts, boats for use in rivers and canals, and music instruments.

H. Gm

Phai with

- 4) Exhibition of large-scale model of Ayutthaya This large model will be a major symbolic object, rather independent of the individual exhibitions mentioned above, but firmly connected with each theme. It will show geographical details of the Ayutthaya area, consisting of natural environment such as the rivers, canals, and cultural aspects of the inhabitants including local and foreign settlements, community life, monasteries, commercial areas, toll gates, and inland trade.

The function, role and organization of the exhibition at the Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre, as stated above, will have a special feature, different from other educational institutions, by providing social services and facilities for extramural education. The exhibition at the centre will help bring about understanding, in a concrete form, of the history of Ayutthaya for the general public. Because this exhibition is to be planned and organized on the basis of wide range data collecting activities, the centre will become an information centre focusing on the history of Ayutthaya. Together with this function, it will also provide support for in-depth and broad research on Ayutthaya history in cooperation with other academic institutions.

The academic specialists are firmly confident that this historical study centre will be not only extremely beneficial and useful to the Thai society, but also will set up an example in establishing educational and academic institutions with similar functions and organizations in other regions of Thailand.

10. The Task Force and the Team made a close examination of the basic plan of the exhibition, which was previously agreed upon at the time of the second Preliminary Study. As a result, the both sides agreed that the exhibition is to be made under the four themes i.e. Introduction: Ayutthaya as a capital, Ayutthaya as a port city, Ayutthaya as a centralised state, Life of Ayutthaya: society and culture, as shown in the Appendix I.

11. The Team proposed a schedule for the basic design and a tentative implementation schedule to the Task Force. The Task Force is fully aware of it and is ready to take necessary measures. They are shown in Appendix II.

12. The Task Force confirmed to the Team that the Thai side will take necessary measures in Appendix III on the condition that the Grant Aid would be extended to the Project.

13. The Task Force requested the Team that construction materials available in Thailand should be used for the Project as much as possible at the implementation stage.
