PROGRESS REPORT FOR THE STUDY
ON CRITICAL LAND AND PROTECTION FOREST REHABILITATION
AT TONDANO WATERSHED IN THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA

The JICA Study Team submitted forty (40) copies of the Progress Report to Directorate General of Land Rehabilitation and Social Forestry (hereinafter referred to as "DGLRSF"), in accordance with the Scope of Work for the Study signed between DGLRSF and the Japan International Cooperation Agency (hereinafter referred to as "JICA") on September 20, 1999.

Meetings on the Progress Report were held twice, namely with officials of DGLRSF in Jakarta on May 17, 2000 and the Working Committee in Manado on May 20, 2000. In the meetings, the JICA Study Team explained the contents of the Report and further highlighted the basic concept of watershed conservation plan and identification of proposed Intensive Area. Thereafter, a series of discussions was made among them. As a result of the discussions, in principle the Report was agreed by both sides. The main issues discussed by the both sides and the list of participants are shown in ANNEXES attached hereto.

Main Issues Discussed on the Progress Report at the Meetings in Jakarta and Manado

1. The proposed title of the “Watershed Preservation Plan” in the Progress Report should be changed into the “Watershed Conservation Plan”, to coincide the title with the concept of the plan.
2. Regarding the current status of sedimentation in Lake Tondano, various values of soil loss estimated by other agencies should be justified.
3. The Intensive Area for the feasibility study should be the upper reach of the Tondano River influencing directly to Lake Tondano. However, recommendations for rehabilitation and/or improvement of the watershed condition in its lower reach should be included in the feasibility study.
4. Monitoring and evaluation of watershed conservation shall be clearly mentioned in the Interim Report.
5. The Study should identify the determination factors influencing directly to watershed degradation, and the results should be incorporated into the Interim Report to make better understanding about watershed condition.
6. The socialization of the project idea should be strengthened through appropriate method like RRA survey, not only for community but also for other institutions concerned.
7. It was suggested to pay more attention on analysis of community behavior regarding the expansion of weeds in Lake Tondano.
8. The coordination of the Study implementation among the agencies concerned should be strengthened especially through preparation of draft integrated program and implementation plan in the feasibility study.
9. Back-up of the master plan through regional and/or provincial regulations is urgently needed.

The JICA Study Team submitted forty (40) copies of the Interim Report to Directorate General of Land Rehabilitation and Social Forestry (hereinafter referred to as "DGLRSF"), in accordance with the Scope of Work for the Study signed between DGLRSF and the Japan International Cooperation Agency (hereinafter referred to as "JICA") on September 20, 1999.

Meetings on the Interim Report were held twice, namely with officials of DGLRSF and other donors in Jakarta on September 27, 2000 and the Working Committee members in Manado on October 3, 2000. In addition, a workshop was held at the meeting room of Bupati Minahasa office on October 2, 2000. Seventy two persons including farmers' representative and Camat attended at the workshop.

In the meetings, the JICA Study Team explained the contents of the Report, focusing on the basic concept and basic strategies of watershed conservation plan and the Intensive Area identified. Thereafter, a series of discussions was made among them. As a result of the discussions, the Report was in principle agreed by both sides. The main issues discussed in the meetings and the list of participants are shown in ANNEXES attached hereto.

Main Issues Discussed on the Progress Report at the Meetings in Jakarta and Manado

1. The feasibility study for the Intensive Area should be conducted in accordance with the basic concept and strategies for the "Watershed Conservation Plan" as proposed in the Report.
2. The Intensive Area should be identified from south, west and east sides of Lake Tondano as proposed in the Report.
3. The feasibility study should be conducted in close communication with the local governments, existing related working committees, and through detailed socio-economic survey under philosophy of people's participation.
4. In designing of agroforestry system, introduction of new species of trees should be also taken into consideration.
5. The scheme of community forest should be considered in the feasibility study.
6. DGLRSF should notify JICA of the new counterpart agency immediately after receiving an official notice on reorganization in connection with the government reorganization policy.

Main Issues Discussed and Agreed on the Field Report at the Meetings in Jakarta and Manado

1. The community forestry should be planned by the multi-sectoral approach since it closely relates to socio-economic aspects.
2. The community forestry should be planned taking into due account the incentive scheme to the community, such as seedling supply and creation of job opportunity. This scheme also should be applied for re-forestation activity.
3. Detailed explanation on monitoring and evaluation system should be made to the Draft Final Report because its system is very important for proper management of Tondano watershed.
4. The Draft Final Report should recommend demarcation of the institutional roles and directions of the central and local governments on watershed conservation for Tondano.
5. The local government requests to prepare the Indonesia version of the Final Report for his deep understanding of contents of the Study and necessary actions on watershed conservation in the future. The JICA Study Team agreed to convey this request to the JICA head quarters.
6. The implementation plan of the Study should be mentioned in the Draft Final Report.

Main Issues Discussed and Agreed on the Draft Final Report at the Meetings in Jakarta and Manado

1. The incentive mechanism in the Tondano watershed should be mentioned in the Report, aiming at accelerating the people' participation in the watershed conservation activities.
2. The B/C ratio should be executed in the project evaluation, and its result should be mentioned in the Final Report.
3. The Final Report proposes that GOI should socialize urgently the results of zoning to the stakeholders for the Intensive Area, to prevent the watershed degradation.
4. The Final Report should mention the need of research on possibility of soil erosion prevention by planting of the selected suitable trees.
5. The further comments on the Report if any, should be sent to the JICA Headquarters by the end of June 2001.
6. The Final Report will be submitted to DGLRSF within two (2) months after receiving the further comments from DGLRSF.
7. The Indonesia version of the Final Report (Main Report only) will be submitted to DGLRSF together with its English version.
8. Both sides agreed that the Final Report would be opened to any persons who are interested in the Study.
